

Social Studies/English

What stories do you remember?

What single story do you know that would be a dangerous stereotype?

Have you ever experienced a single story about your background or religion or family?

How did it feel? How did you respond?

Have you ever done that about someone else? Would you do it again?

Wh? Why not?

Does our telling of events in history come off as a single story that stereotypes the event?

How can you find other sources for those events to give it more nuanced reality?
