THANK YOU FOR TAKING A STAND AGAINST COAL MINING ON OUR PUBLIC LANDS!

As you know, the US Department of the Interior announced earlier this year that it will temporarily stop leasing federal land to coal developers while it studies fossil fuels' impact on the environment. But we need the Department of the Interior to end coal mining on our public lands permanently, preventing the release of billions of tons of carbon pollution into the air.

You already spoke up and urged the Department of the Interior to take action to protect our public lands – now join us on social media to ask your family and friends to do the same.

Join our Thunderclap and send a strong message to Big Polluters that this is our land, our climate, and our future. After you join, a post will automatically be published to your Facebook, Twitter, or Instagram on July 23 at 4 PM ET, asking your friends to #SayNoToCoal.

The bottom line is when we lease our federal lands for coal, we're helping fuel climate change. Join our Thunderclap now and help us urge the Department of the Interior to end coal leasing on federal lands – permanently.
